

The New Jersey Chapter

The New Jersey Chapter is a nonprofit professional organization that has served as a forum for corrections in New Jersey since 1983. Membership includes a wide variety of correctional employees drawing from probation, parole, institutions, community-based facilities, treatment centers, schools, law enforcement, the judiciary, and related governmental and private agencies. We provide criminal justice practitioners in New Jersey with educational training and networking opportunities. Through ACA's dual membership program, one automatically becomes a member of the New Jersey Chapter and ACA for one membership fee.

The New Jersey Chapter's mission is: to shape public policy and to provide information, training, and networking opportunities, thereby promoting professional growth and organizational effectiveness in New Jersey's criminal/juvenile justice system.

Objectives of the New Jersey Chapter

- To provide a unified voice concerning the needs and concerns of corrections, criminal justice clients and employees before the state legislature, local government, public agencies, organizations, and clubs.
- To provide a forum for discussion of county and statewide correctional problems through an annual statewide conference.
- To provide a clearinghouse of descriptive information concerning exemplary corrections and criminal justice programs in the state and on the national level.
- To review legislative matters being considered before the state legislature relating to the field of criminal justice to provide to the public information regarding these matters.

The American Correctional Association

Founded in 1870, The American Correctional Association (ACA) is a professional membership organization dedicated to the improvement of corrections and the training and development of corrections professionals. With more than 20,000 members, ACA's membership consists of individuals and organizations involved in all facets of corrections - including adult and juvenile institutions, community corrections, juvenile justice, institutions of higher learning, and probation and parole services located in the United States, Canada and other nations, as well as 74 chapters and affiliates representing states and professional organizations.

The mission of the Association is to exert a positive influence on national correctional policy and to promote the professional development of individuals working in all aspects of the corrections field. ACA's primary purpose is to be of service to both the field and its members.

The Association provides its members with educational materials, publications, training, seminars, bi-annual conferences, accreditation services, and a variety of other networking opportunities -- not to mention Corrections Today magazine, discount programs, and insurance benefits.
